A strong new combination

From May 23-25, 2012 CIMPS-Europort will build a bridge between the Chinese shipbuilding industry and international equipment suppliers.

In the modern and high-tech Nanjing International Expo Center, the maritime world will come together to meet with the largest possible representation of the Chinese shipbuilding industry during 3 exhibition days, plus dynamic conference programs, a matchmaking session and trade missions to Jiangsu shipyards, many of whom are physically represented on the exhibition floor as well.

During the 2011 edition of CIMPS, a cooperation was agreed upon by UAEC and Ahoy Rotterdam to co-organize the future editions as CIMPS-Europort, combining the two names and adding the internationally strong Europort brand to the exhibition. The ambition of the organizing parties is to create an international event that fits the region's international strategy and grants opportunities to its participants which elsewhere might be hard to obtain.

Visitors' background

Your gateway to the No.1 shipbuilding hub in China

CIMPS-Europort invites you to join us in the beating heart of the largest shipbuilding country in the world. Nanjing, acrossed by the Yangtze River, known throughout China as the Golden Waterway, is the hub of the No.1 shipbuilding area of China.

Yangtze River Delta is the economic engine in China. This has been especially noticeable in the shipbuilding industry where the total import during 2010 reached 217 million US Dollar, one quarter of the total Chinese import volume.

Over 80 big shipyards in the Jiangsu province alone are rapidly developing and the need for import is increasing daily.

Add to this that the Jiangsu Coastal Campaign has become a national strategy for China as a whole and you will find demand for your products might increase drastically in the time to come.

Special purpose ships & advanced technology

Jiangsu's shipbuilding industry accounts for 35-40% of all shipbuilding in the entire country (15.3% of the world's output) but is not exclusively known for this high output. The area is also renowned for it's development towards a region where evermore technologically advanced vessels are being produced. Something the rest of the Chinese regions are still not ready for. There is a higher focus on more specialized ships here than anywhere else in China and yards are busy building dredging and construction vessels amongst others. Jiangsu is known far and wide to be an area of high technological degree and its universities have added to this level of knowledge.

The fact that the Jiangsu area is such a frontrunner in the Chinese shipbuilding industry provides a lot of opportunities for international suppliers of maritime equipment as there is a consistently high demand for these products. The local manufacturers cannot meet the needs of the yards, which leads to chances for international suppliers and innovators.

Strong governmental support

CIMPS-Europort is supported by Maritime Safety Administration of the People's Republic of China, China Association of the National Shipbuilding Industry, Chinese Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineering, China Shipowners' Association, China Chamber of Commerce for Import & Export of Machinery & Electronic Products, Jiangsu Association of Shipbuilding industry and Jiangsu Provincial Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineering.

The 2011 edition is sponsored by China Council for the Promotion of International Trade (CCPIT), Ministry of Industry and Information Technology of China, Jiangsu Provincial People's Government; and co-organized by Jiangsu Economy and information Technology Commission, Department of Commerce of Jiangsu Province. Nanjing Municipal People's Government and Trade Development Bureau of Ministry of Commerce, PRC.

CSSC (The China State Shipbuilding Corporation) has agreed to support CIMPS-Europort as co-sponsor from 2012 onwards, means that a staggering 2/3 of the Chinese Shipbuilding industry are within grasps of exhibitors at the event!

Simultaneous Offshore Technology , Equipment Exhibition & Conference

China's offshore industry moves into the fast lane. Chinese shipyards, especially those in Jiangsu, are ready to diversify into offshore engineering which creates a need for technical design and knowhow.

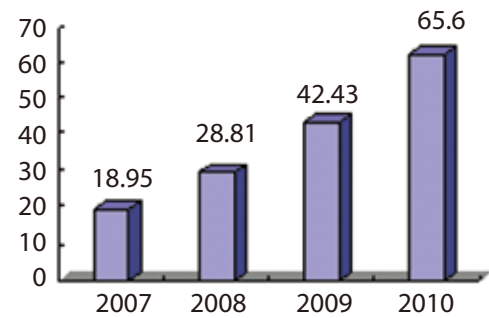

Alongside CIMPS-Europort, OTE - Offshore Technology, Equipment Exhibition & Conference will be held. The opportunities offered by China's focus on its offshore oil & gas fields are combined with the new chances of renewable energy will bring to the region.

By organizing both exhibitions simultaneously, a large portion of visitors with an equal interest in both maritime technology as well as the offshore industry will be drawn to visit each show, as the need for advanced technologies is equally large in both sectors.
